PREFACE

Winter had arrived, snowflakes gently falling down to the ground. Jonah had finished helping his father put the horses in the stable. It was still not too cold, a wool sweater was enough to hold the cold at bay for now. A river passed by the back side of the house. Jonah walked to get water for dinner. Fog covered the water this morning, reaching out and massaging the grass on each side like fingers playing a beautiful tune on the piano. He bent down to fill up his bucket, something dark suddenly reached out and Jonah was never seen again.

Introduction

Eda is a dark fantasy game. While still having magic, wonders and amazing adventure. Magic and supernatural things usually have higher consequences for someone using it.

Living in Eda can be tough and deadly. It was not always this way; once upon a time, the stories tell about a prosperous land where most people lived in peace and harmony. The name Eda itself is said to have meant “Wonderous” in an ancient language long forgotten. Nowadays not many still believe in the legends, and they are mostly whispered quietly over a drink in a dimly lit tavern or hiding in your home.

Common people are scared not only of darkness, monsters, and other creatures roaming the countryside but also of religious fanatics, powerful clans, and corrupt governments. Rulers are often bandits, scoundrels, and men trying to prey on the weak. Then there are diseases, harsh weather, and pests eating the crops. Life is not easy for those trying to do good.

What is a Roleplaying Game?

A tabletop role-playing game is played with a group of friends. One acts as a Game Master (GM). The rest will take control of a Player Character (PC). The players act through their character and let their character make decisions. The GM will be the world around the players and guide them. Together the players and the GM create a collaborative adventure.

The primary goal is that everyone should have fun. The rules laid out in this book are for guidance only, and your group might feel like changing some aspects to make it more fun.

The game is divided into Adventures and Campaigns.

- Adventure: A short story or quest.
- Campaign: A series of adventures connected together by a continuing storyline.

Dice Mechanics

Dice are used to decide outcomes of uncertain actions. Eda uses two 10-sided dice to represent numbers from 01-100, referred to as d100.

- Primary Dice: Represents the 10s (00, 10, 20... 90).
- Secondary Dice: Represents the 1s (0-9).

EXAMPLE: ROLLING THE DICE

A “70” on the primary and “5” on the secondary equals 75.

Two “0”s equal 100.

Note on Rounding: When dividing values (e.g., Skill / 2), always round down.

Example:  $75 / 2 = 37$ .

Game Sessions

It is up to the group to decide how long to play, but a general tip is to keep sessions around 4-5 hours for both getting into stories but at the same time not play on fumes but everyone is different so do what is most fun for you and your group.

Session 0: It is always a good idea to have a first session where you don't adventure fully but make sure everyone has a character created, backstories are done, and expectations are set regarding the tone of the game.

Playing the Game

Checks

Roll d100 (01-100).

- Success: Roll UNDER or EQUAL to your Skill/Attribute.
- Failure: Roll OVER your Skill/Attribute.

Degree of Success

The amount of success. Recorded as the number of the ten digits. Example a roll of 48 would be 4 degree of success. Many different mechanics in the game uses how much you succeed in something and it also impact how much damage your attacks do.

THE BLACKJACK SYSTEM

Eda uses a “Blackjack” style system for Degrees of Success. This means you want to roll as high as possible without going over your Skill value.

- High Rolls (Near Skill): Provide the highest Degree of Success, representing a perfect execution of the task.
- Low Rolls (Near 01): Are “Safer” as they are more likely to succeed, but they provide a lower Degree of Success.
- Tactical Choice: Some tasks (like Dodge) require a minimum Degree of Success. If your skill is low, you must risk rolling close to your limit to succeed at these difficult feats.

Critical Success & Failure

- Critical Success: A Pair under or equal to the skill value (11, 22, 33...).
  - In combat a Critical Success deals Critical Damage: Weapon Base Damage + Maximum Degree of Success (Tens Digit of the Skill). This replaces the normal damage calculation for that hit.
  - Difficulty Bypass: In non-combat checks, a Critical Success automatically fulfills the required Degrees of Success for any difficulty level.
- Critical Failure (Fumble): A Pair above the skill value or a roll of 100 (00) (if above the skill).
  - The Fumble Reward: Eda uses a “fail forward” mechanic. When you Critical Failure, you immediately increase that skill by 1 point permanently as you learn from the error. See the section Fumble Points for a full explanation.

Difficulty Modifiers

DIFFICULTY	REQUIREMENT (DoS)	DESCRIPTION
Easy	0 DoS	Routine tasks with no significant pressure.
Routine	1 DoS	Standard professional tasks.
Challenge	2 DoS	Demanding tasks requiring focus and skill.
Hard	4 DoS	Significant obstacles; requires expertise.
Extreme	6 DoS	At the edge of human capability.
Near Impossible	8 DoS	Practically legendary feats; requires a Master.

Advantage & Disadvantage

When you have Advantage or Disadvantage, you roll d100 as normal, but you can swap which die is the primary (tens) and which is the secondary (units). This allows you to choose between two possible results from a single roll.

For example, if you roll a 3 and a 6, your result can be either 36 or 63.

- Advantage: You select the best result. The Best Result is defined as the successful roll that provides the highest Degree of Success (DoS).
- Disadvantage: You must take the worst result.

Example: The Advantage Choice

Bjorn has a Skill of 70 and rolls with Advantage. He rolls a 2 and a 6. * Option A: 26 (2 DoS) * Option B: 62 (6 DoS)

Bjorn picks 62. It is still under his skill (70), but it provides a higher Degree of Success, potentially dealing more damage or satisfying higher difficulty requirements.

Opposing Rolls

When two characters are competing against each other (e.g., an arm wrestling match or trying to hide from a guard), both parties make a check.

- Both roll against their respective Skill/Attribute.
- If both fail, nothing happens or the situation remains unchanged.
- If one succeeds and the other fails, the successful character wins.
- If both succeed, the character with the highest successful roll wins.
- Resisting Effects: When a spell or ability says “Attribute vs Attribute to resist,” it always uses an Opposing Roll.

Pushing the Limit

Before rolling, a player can declare they are “Pushing.”

- Effect: You gain Advantage on the roll.
- Cost: Regardless of success or failure, you lose 10 Instinct Points.

Note on Instinct Points: Instinct Points (IP) represent your character’s mental focus, sanity, and willpower. They are a pool of points that can be spent to push yourself or are lost when facing horrific sights. If your Instinct Points reach 0, you become Frightened. See Body & Instinct in Character Creation for how to calculate your maximum IP.

Character Creation

To create a character, you make choices that customize them to be interesting and fun. A character consists of:

1. Attributes & Lineage
2. Body & Instinct
3. Heritage
4. Skills

5. Talents
6. Combat Styles
7. Course of Life
8. Equipment

CHARACTER CREATION EXAMPLE: BJORN THE BRAVE

Step 1: Lineage: Bjorn chooses The Bear totem. Stats: STR 70, AGI 65, LOG 60, INS 40, CHA 60, CON 65.

Step 2: Body & Mind: He gets 65 HP (CON), 20 IP (INS / 2) and 6 reactions.

Step 3: Heritage: He picks Hearth-born. Trait: Stoic Endurance. Skills: Trained in Survival and Crafting. Gear: A sturdy iron cook-pot.

Step 4: Skills: Bjorn is already Trained in Survival and Crafting from his Heritage. He chooses 3 more Trained Skills: Athletics, Warfare, and Perception.

Step 5 and 6: Talents & Combat Styles: Bjorn selects the Shield Wall Talent and the One-Handed & Shield Combat Style.

Step 7: Course of Life: Bjorn is a veteran of the Frost Wars, seeking to protect his village from the creeping ice. He is brave but cautious.

Step 8: Equipment: Bjorn starts with 60 Silver Marks from his Hearth-born heritage. He purchases a Hand Axe (30sp), a bedroll (2sp), a tinderbox (2sp), and 5 days of rations (10sp). He also carries his sturdy iron cook-pot from his heritage, leaving him with 16 Silver Marks for his journey.

Every Heritage provides a Signature Trait, two Heritage Skills in which you are automatically Trained, a unique piece of Starting Equipment, a set amount of Starting Currency (Silver Marks), and usually a choice of one Combat Style.

Course of Life

Describe your character. Are you generous? Do you like animals? What are your goals? Keep a journal of your adventures, friends, and enemies.

Skills

Skills represent your character's training and experience.

- Base Skill: Your base score in any skill is equal to its associated Attribute / 2.
- Trained: You are specialized in this skill. A Trained skill is equal to its associated Attribute in full. At character creation, you gain 2 Trained Skills from your Heritage, usually 1 Combat Style, and select 3 additional Trained Skills from the list below. After that you can increase your skills by using XP. Only trained skills can be improved by XP. To “unlock” an untrained skill into a trained skill you need to spend 5 XP at once, representing dedicated training. After that, you can increase the skill score using XP.

Encounters start with initiative roll, each combatant then go in turn order after everyone had their turn. The round is over and the next round start with a new initiative roll.

Initiative

Only the player characters roll for initiative. Each player rolls against their AGI.

- Success: The player acts in the Vanguard Turn (before the enemies).
- Failure: The player acts in the Rearguard Turn (after the enemies).
- Group Coordination: Players in the same turn (Vanguard or Rearguard) can act in any order they choose themselves if not clockwise.

Actions

On your turn, you get 2 Action Points and 1 Zero Cost Action.

Standard Actions

- Move: Up to Speed (AGI / 10 meters).
  - Evasive Maneuver: If you move at least 3 meters during your turn, you gain Advantage on all Active Defense rolls (Dodge, Parry, Block) until the start of your next turn.
- Attack: Use a combat style.
- Help: Lending your help to an ally, giving advantage on an action. Need to be within melee range.
- Activate / Manipulate Item: Can example open a door, light a candle or smaller simpler tasks that take some time.
- Draw / Sheathe Weapon: To change your weapon, example to switch from your bow to a sword you will need to use a action.

- Stand Up: To get up if sitting or prone.
- Use Talent/Skill: Variable cost described by the talent, normally 1 action.

The Wait Action

A player in the Vanguard Turn can spend a free Action to Wait. This drops them to the Rearguard Turn, effectively trading initiative for better positioning or observation.

- Momentum: By waiting and observing the enemy, the player gains Momentum. When acting in the Rearguard Turn, they may choose one benefit:
  - Precision: Advantage on their next skill check or attack.

Damage & Health

- Damage: Total damage is calculated as Weapon Base Damage + Degree of Success (DoS).
- Reduction: Damage is reduced by Defense (Armor/Shields) before being applied to HP.
- Death: At 0 HP.

Cover

Cover is a vital part of tactical survival. Represents the difficulty of hitting a target partially or fully obscured by the environment.

Cover Types

Type	Examples	Mechanical Effect
None	Open field, empty hallway.	No bonus.
Half	Bushes, crates, furniture, other creatures.	Disadvantage for the attacker.
Full	Behind a solid wall, inside a room.	Cannot be targeted by direct attacks.

Reactions & Active Defense

Survival depends on your ability to react to incoming threats. Characters have a limited pool of Reactions for an entire encounter.

Reactions: Your total pool of Reactions for the entire encounter is equal to the tens digit of your AGI. (Example: AGI 65 gives 6 Reactions). These do not refresh every round and must be used strategically.

CONSERVING YOUR STRENGTH

In Eda, combat is fast and brutal. Because your Reaction Pool does not refresh during an encounter, every choice to Dodge or Parry is a life-altering decision. GM's should use this to create tension—once a character's reactions are spent, they are vulnerable.

Players must decide whether to save their energy for a boss's heavy strike or use it to survive a minion's early assault.

Active Defense Options:

When you are targeted by an attack, you may spend one of your limited Reactions to perform one of the following:

- Dodge (AGI) (Challenge: 2 DoS):
  - Success: You move out of the way. You take No Damage.
  - Failure: You take Full Damage.
- Parry (AGI):
  - Success: You deflect the blow. Reduce incoming damage by your Weapon Damage + Degree of Success.
  - Failure: You take Full Damage.
- Block (Combat: Shields):
  - Success: You catch the blow on your shield. Reduce incoming damage by Shield Defense + Degree of Success.
  - Failure: The shield still absorbs some impact. You take Half Damage.

Conditions & Status Effects

Conditions represent various physical, mental, or situational states that can affect a character. Most conditions are temporary, but they can be deadly if ignored.

Fear is a force that erodes your INSTINCT. Anything that causes Fear reduces your current Instinct Points directly. Unlike HP, Instinct Points do not naturally recover without rest or special items. If your Instinct Points reach 0, you get the condition Frightened until you recover your Maximum INSTINCT points.

Morale Check: A check to resist fear or intimidation. This is an Opposing Roll (e.g., Attacker's CHA vs. Target's INS).

CONDITION	MECHANICAL EFFECT

Blinded	You cannot see. All your attacks have Disadvantage . You automatically fail any check relying on sight. Attackers have Advantage on attacks against you.
Frightened	You are overwhelmed by fear. You have Disadvantage on all Skill and Attribute checks. You cannot willingly move closer to the source of your fear.
Hidden	You are unseen and unheard. You have Advantage on your next attack. If you attack or move into the open, the condition ends. See Stealth skill for more details.
Immobilized	Your movement is restricted. Your Speed is 0 . You cannot use the Move or The Charge actions. You have Disadvantage on Dodge checks.
Prone	You are lying on the ground. Ranged attacks against you have Disadvantage , but melee attacks against you have Advantage . Standing up costs 1 Action Point .
Restrained	You are Immobilized and have Disadvantage on all attack rolls. Attackers have Advantage on attacks against you.
Stunned	You are momentarily dazed. You cannot take actions or reactions. Attackers have Advantage on attacks against you.
Unconscious	You are totally unaware of your surroundings. You are Prone and Stunned . You automatically fail all checks. Any successful attack against you is a Critical Success .

Status effects represent the toll of the environment and biological needs on the body.

EFFECT	MECHANICAL EFFECT
Bleeding	You are losing blood. Take 2 Damage at the start of each of your turns. This effect can be stopped with a successful Medicine check ( Routine, 1 DoS ) or if you receive any form of healing.
Burning	You are on fire. Take 2 Damage at the start of each of your turns. You can spend 1 Action Point to attempt an Agility check to douse the flames. ( Routine, 1 DoS for small fires, Challenge, 2 DoS for large).
Cold	Extreme cold numbs your body. You have Disadvantage on all Agility checks. If you do not find warmth, you must succeed on a Constitution check ( Routine, 1 DoS ) every hour or take 2 Damage .
Exhaustion	You are physically or mentally spent. Exhaustion has 3 levels: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Disadvantage on all Attribute checks.</li> <li>Speed is halved and Disadvantage on all Skill checks.</li> <li>You fall Unconscious.</li> </ol> A full rest removes 1 level of Exhaustion.

Heat	Blistering heat drains your stamina. You double your consumption of water. If you do not have water, you must succeed on a Constitution check ( Routine, 1 DoS ) every hour or gain 1 level of Exhaustion .
Poisoned	Toxins are in your system. You have Disadvantage on all Strength and Constitution checks. Take 1 Damage at the start of each of your turns unless the poison is neutralized with a Constitution check ( Challenge, 2 DoS ).
Starvation	You lack nourishment. After 3 days without food, you gain 1 level of Exhaustion every 24 hours. This cannot be recovered until you eat a full meal.
Suffocating	You cannot breathe. In calm situations, you can hold your breath for CON / 10 minutes (minimum 1). In high-stress situations (combat), you must succeed on a Constitution check every round or gain 1 level of Exhaustion . If you reach level 3, you die.

Environmental Hazards

Falling

Gravity is a lethal foe. When you fall from a height of 3 meters or more, you take damage upon landing.

- Damage: 5 damage for every 3 meters fallen.
- Mitigation: You may attempt an Acrobatics check (Challenge, 2 DoS) to halve the falling damage.

Adventuring

Downtime

If there is a long downtime, depending on if the characters plausibly would have access to shops etc. You are allowed to spend coins on anything that would plausibly be available. It is also okay to perform other type of normal duties such as bathing or go to the barber etc.

Rest & Recovery

Normal Rest

8 hours of sleep. Small interruption of sleep can be included as long as there is no excessive physical exertion.

- HP Recovery: You recover  $4 + (\text{CON Tens Digit})$  HP per night of normal sleep.
- IP Recovery: You recover  $\text{INS Tens Digit}$  IP per night of normal sleep.

Health & Injuries

Healing Abilities

Using the Aid skill to bandage or splint a broken arm can stop bleeding and prevent an injury from getting worse.

Equipment & Economy

Currency is based on the weight and purity of precious metals. While many remote clans still rely on barter, most settled areas use a standardized coinage system.

Denominations

- Copper Bit (cp): A thin, stamped copper disc used for everyday purchases.
- Silver Mark (sp): The standard unit of trade. Most goods are priced in Silver Marks. ( $100 \text{ cp} = 1 \text{ sp}$ ).
- Gold Crown (gp): Large, heavy coins often dating back long in history. Used only for significant transactions, such as buying land or high-quality livestock. ( $100 \text{ sp} = 1 \text{ gp}$ ).

Hacksilver & Barter

In the rugged wilds, coins are often rare. Travelers frequently use Hacksilver—pieces of silver jewelry, arm-rings, or even coins cut into halves or quarters—which are valued by weight.

Outside major trade hubs, barter is the primary form of exchange. A character might trade a bundle of furs for a night's stay and a hot meal. When haggling over significant trades, the GM may call for a CHA or Appraise check. Opposing rolls for haggling might occur.

Rituals

- Time: 1 Hour (Standard).
- Cost: 10 IP + Material Cost (Gold/Ingredients).

- Failure & Fear:
- Success: The ritual works as intended.

- Critical Success (Pair under Skill): No IP cost, and the effect is doubled/enhanced.
- Failure: No effect. Lose IP and Materials. Lose 2 additional IP due to Fear.
- Critical Failure (Roll 95-100): The ritual backfires. The GM determines a negative consequence. Lose 5 additional IP due to Fear.

Progress Clocks

Progress Clocks are a visual tool used by the Game Master to track the flow of events, the progress of a complex task, or the approaching threat of a looming danger.

A clock is a circle divided into segments—typically 4, 6, or 8. As events unfold, the GM fills in these segments to represent progress.

Types of Clocks

- Objective Clocks: Used to track the players' progress toward a goal, such as “Sneak into the Fortress” or “Research the Ancient Curse.”
- Danger Clocks: Represent a growing threat or a countdown to a negative event, such as “The Guards are Alerted” or “The Ritual Completes.”
- Linked Clocks: Sometimes, one clock must be completed before another can begin. For example, a “Find the Secret Entrance” (4 segments) clock might need to be filled before the “Infiltrate the Vault” (6 segments) clock starts.
- Mission Clocks: Track the overall progress of a large-scale operation or adventure.

Filling a Clock

Segments are usually filled based on the outcome of rolls:

- Success: Fill 1 segment.
- Critical Success: Fill 2 or 3 segments.
- Failure on a Risky Action: The GM may fill 1 or 2 segments on a related Danger Clock.

Why Use Clocks?

Clocks provide transparency and tension. They allow players to see exactly how close they are to success or disaster, making their choices feel more impactful. They are especially useful for situations that shouldn't be resolved by a single roll but require a series of actions.

Progression

This system rewards failure and provides consistent growth, ensuring low skills improve quickly while high skills plateau.

The Fumble Points

- Trigger: Your skill improves immediately when you roll a Critical Fumble.
- Definition of Critical Fumble:
  1. Rolling a Pair (11, 22, 33, ..., oo) that is ABOVE your Skill Value.
    - Example: Skill 45. Roll 77. (Fail + Pair) -> Fumble. Skill increases to 46.
- The Reward: When you Fumble, increase that skill by 1 point permanently. This represents learning from a spectacular failure.

End of session

At the end of every session, all players receive 5 Experience Points (XP). This represents the general experience and growth gained from adventuring.

Spending XP:

- Buy Talents: T1 = 5 XP, T2 = 10 XP, T3 = 15 XP, T4 = 20 XP.
- Increase Attributes: +1 to any Attribute = 10 XP.
- Steady Training: 1 XP increases a trained Skill score by 2 points.
- Unlock Skill: 5 XP to turn an untrained skill into a Trained skill.
